Cohen's Lottery and Exchange-Office.

Hoc signo Fortuna.

BALTIMORE—THURSDAY, JUNE 26, 1828.

All the Capitals sold at Cohen's.

The usual splendid success attended adventurers at our Office, in the Maryland State Lottery which drew yesterday afternoon, agreeably to announcement.—The Capital of TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS came out to No. 2966—The 2,000 DOLLAR Capital was drawn by No. 6493, and the 1000 DOLLAR prize by No. 1762—all from COHEN'S OFFICE, in whole tickets. The 10,000 dollar Capital is owned in the City of Baltimore; for this, as well as all other prizes in the scheme, the CASH is ready, and adventurers will oblige us by presenting their tickets for payment, or for renewal in the next class, as early as convenient.

The official list of the drawing will be found on the opposite page—the FOUR FIRST DRAWN NUMBERS, of different terminations, were therefore, agreeably to the scheme, all tickets ending either with 7, 0, 2, or 4, are those entitled to the Dollar prizes, and in addition to any other prizes which they may have drawn.

The next Lottery—Odd & Even.

We have the pleasure of presenting on the next page, the Scheme of the 4th MARYLAND STATE LOTTERY for 1828. It is arranged on the ODD AND EVEN SYSTEM, so highly and deservedly popular, in consequence of the very small risk to adventurers—the advantages of this mode of drawing we need not repeat, they are known throughout the Union, and its popularity universal.—Our distant friends complain of the rapidity with which our Lotteries follow each other, and that very frequently, time sufficient is not allowed them to renew their Prizes or even to hear of a new scheme until too late to send on their Orders—in the present Scheme we shall allow a little time extra, and therefore do not now announce the day for drawing.—It will however take place in the course of a few weeks, of which due notice will be given—in the meantime, our distant friends will forward their Orders without delay—TICKETS are FOUR dollars each, and Shares in proportion. Address to

J. I. COHEN, JR. & BROTHERS—Baltimore.

The Latest Advices from England, are those by the packet ship Pacific, at New-York, with dates to 16th May.

The war between Turkey and Russia may now be said to have commenced. The declaration has been made but no account of hostilities are yet related. It does not appear that it will be of long continuance, unless the ancient spirit of the Turk is roused. The details are given below. In England, the passage of Sir Francis Burdett's resolution, relative to the Catholics of Ireland, by a majority of 6, is a movement of very great importance to the tranquillity of that Island.

Russian Declaration of War against Turkey.—Russia has, at length, declared her intentions of seeking and obtaining satisfaction for all the injuries and insults received from the Porte. On the 4th inst. two official documents, dated St. Petersburg, 14th (26) were received at Berlin. One is termed a Manifesto of the Emperor, and the other a Declaration. In the first, the emperor complains of the violation of the treaties of Bucharest and Ackermann, of the Porte summoning its subjects to arm en masse against the Russians, who are denominated the irreconcilable enemies of Turkey; of the detention of Russian vessels, and the seizure of their cargoes, and of the intrigues of Turkey to prolong the war in Persia. The honor and dignity of Russia, the emperor says, render further forbearance impossible, and require the redress of all those grievances; to obtain which, he has ordered his armies to advance into the Turkish territories, in full confidence of success from the protection of Heaven, and the justness of his cause.

The declaration describes, at much greater length, the causes which render an appeal to arms indispensably necessary. It reproaches the Porte with its shameful avowal of duplicity in signing the Treaty of Ackermann, which it never intended to fulfil; with its disregard of all other treaties; with its perfidy in summoning all Mahomedans to arms against Russia, on the very day when the European ambassadors received the strongest assurances of the pacific disposition of the Porte, and with its endeavours to cause a renewal of the war in Persia. Notwithstanding all the sacrifices made by Russia, to preserve peace, and secure the existence of the Turkish dominions in Europe, the Turks had taken advantage of the difficulties in which they imagined Russia involved after the peace of 1812, to violate more grossly all their existing engagements. They had cruelly butchered the Servians, to whom they had granted an amnesty, and had plundered Moldavia and Wallachia, though the privileges of these unhappy provinces had been guaranteed. For five years, the Emp. Alexander tried to preserve peace, notwithstanding all the provocations received from the Turks, and the evasion of treaties evinced by them. The insurrection in the Morea then broke out; of this Russia disapproved, but required that the innocent should not be punished with the guilty. The reasonable demand was disregarded by the Porte, and the Christians were exposed to indiscriminate plunder and massacre. These repeated provocations wore out the patience of Alexander, and in October, 1825, he transmitted an energetic remonstrance to the Porte. bnt, immediately afterwards, death snatched him from the love of his people. The Emperor Nicholas then sought to settle the existing differences by negotiation, and, far from taking advantage of the revolt of the Greeks, endeavoured to mediate between them and the Porte. In pursuance of this design, he had signed, with England, the Protocol of April 4, and, subsequently, with England and France, the Treaty of July 6. The Emperor appeals to that treaty as a proof of his disinterestedness. The shameful breach of faith, on the part of the Ottoman General, which led to the battle of Navarino, did not change the Emperor's wish for peace, and the return made by Turkey for all the moderation evinced by him, was the publication of the insulting Manifesto of the 20th of December. The Emperor then declares war against Turkey, and states the objects of the war to be—

To compel Turkey to pay all the expenses of the war, and to indemnify his subjects for all the losses they have sustained.

To enforce the due and effectual observance of those treaties which Turkey had violated.

To secure the inviolable liberty of the Black Sea, and the free navigation of the Bosphorus.

He declares, that he has not those ambitious designs which the Turkish Manifesto has imputed to him; that he has already countries and nations, and cares enough, that, though he is at war for reasons independent of the treaty of the 6th of July, he will not depart from the stipulations of it, which he will fulfil in concert with his allies.

In conclusion, he declares that he will not lay down his arms till he has obtained the results stated in this declaration.

Miscellaneous Items.

The following is an interesting and important fact which we do not remember to have met with before. It should recommend strongly the application of electricity for the relief of paralytic affections.

Singular Effect of Lightning.—The ship New-York, on a late voyage from New-York to London, encountered a severe storm of thunder and lightning. There was a passenger on board, very old and very corpulent, whose legs were so paralyzed, that for three years he had not walked half a mile, and who, since his embarkation, had not been able even to stand. After the discharge of the lightning, which passed close to the place where this poor cripple was lying, every body was astonished to see him rise, pace up and down the deck, and walk about for a long time, as if nothing had ever ailed him. At first his head was a little affected; but that soon went off, while the benefit which he had experienced in his limbs remained. He continued to use them freely during the passage, and on the arrival of the ship in port, he walked with ease to the place of his residence.

Management of Horses on a Journey.—A horse ought to eat at least from sixteen to twenty quarts of oats per day, otherwise he will not, and cannot, perform a long journey. Clean fresh hay, and a little water, should be given as often as you stop.

Never trust to ostlers when you are on a journey. It is essentially necessary that you personally see to the cleaning, watering, feeding and littering of your horses, otherwise you will, in all probability be under the necessity of hiring, or purchasing another, or abandoning your journey.

Should your horse lose his appetite, give him an ounce of nitre in a bran mash, once or twice. This, with a little rest will soon recover him.

Dean's New England Farmer says, "to fit a horse for a journey, he should not be suffered to grow too fat and gross. He should be kept in the stable rather than in the pasture, and fed mostly with provender; but rather sparingly if inclined to be fat. He should have exercise daily to harden his flesh, and keep him in the habit of travelling. He should be shod some days before he begins a journey, that the shoes may be well settled to his feet, and the nails a little rusted at the points, that they hold the faster. And the pads of the saddle should be well fitted to his back so as to fill the hollows, and bear equally on every part. And while he is on a journey, he should be stab'ed every night. It is very destructive to expose horses to the dampness and cold of the night after severe exercise."

Speedy Justice.—A lad of 16 or 17 years of age stole a coat from a country wagon, in Baltimore, on Tuesday night. He was arrested the next morning, indicted by the Grand Jury, tried before the City Court, found Guilty and sentenced to the Penitentiary before noon.

Newspapers in the U. S.—The Traveller, and monthly Gazetteer, a publication in this city, gives the number of newspapers published in 1775, 1810 and 1828 in the United States. In 1775 there were 37 published, of which Massachusetts had 7; New York, 4; Pennsylvania, 9. In 1810, 358, Massachusetts 32, New-York 66, Pennsylvania 71. In 1828 there are 857 published, as follows:—Maine 29 Massachusetts 78, N Hampshire 17, Vermont 21, R Island 11, Connecticut 26, N. York 161, N. Jersey 22, Pennsylvania 185, Delaware 4, Maryland 32, District Columbia 9, Virginia 34, N Carolina 15, S. N^{OS.} 4157 7070 282 5014 Were the FOUR FIRST DRAWN of different Terminations—therefore, agreeably to the Scheme, all Tickets ending with 7, 0, 2 or 4, are entitled to a prize of Four Dollars each, and in addition to any other prize which they may have drawn.

☞ All Tickets ending with 1, 3, 5, 6, 8 or 9, and not to be found in the above list, are Blanks.

MODE OF DRAWING—The numbers will be put into one wheel as usual—and in the other wheel will be put the prizes above the denomination of Three Dollars, and the drawing to progress in the usual manner. The 6,000 prizes of $3 will be awarded to the odd or even numbers of the Lottery, (as the case may be) dependent on the drawing of the Capital Prize of Ten Thousand Dollars—this to say, if the 10,000 dollar prize should come out to an Odd Number, then every Odd Number in the Scheme will be entitled to a Three Dollar Prize: if the 10,000 dollar prize should come out to an Even Number, then all the Even Numbers in the Scheme will be each entitled to a prize of 3 dollars.

Odd Numbers end with 1, 3, 5, 7, or 9.

Even Numbers end with 2, 4, 6, 8, or 0.

This mode of drawing not only enables the Commissioners to complete the whole Lottery in ONE DRAWING, but has the great advantage of distributing the small prizes regularly to every alternate number in the Scheme, so that the holder of two Tickets, or two Shares of Tickets, (one Odd and one Even Number,) will be certain of obtaining at least one prize, and in the same ratio for any greater quantity. A Ticket drawing a superior prize in this Scheme is not restricted from drawing an inferior one also.
